

MUSEUM of human KINDNESS

Where stories become art

CALL FOR ARTISTS

Welcome! This call is for artists to join the Museum of Human Kindness at Great Yarmouth exhibition to be held in St George's Theatre in May 2020. Museum of Human Kindness is a place where stories on acts of kindness are made into works of art.

If you have a creative practice and interested in creating a new work in response to stories of kindness, apply within!

We're looking for four innovative creatives to join.

We hope to work closely with the selected artists and feature the creative strength of Great Yarmouth. Therefore, we are prioritising artists living in and around Great Yarmouth to preferably work on a story that relates to the city ((first sets of stories on our website)).

Our venue set-up restricts us to exhibit works that can be either hung on a wall or placed unsupported on a plinth. We unfortunately cannot present work that require AV equipment. If you have any questions regarding the format, please feel free to contact us.

The exhibition will be held between 18-31 May 2020 at St George's Theatre in the theatre cafe. St. George's Theatre is Great Yarmouth's only all year round theatre, housed in a stunningly converted Grade I listed former chapel building in the town centre's historic King Street district.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: 5pm 24 February 2019

To apply, click here.

Exhibition date: 18-31 May 2020
Venue: St George's Theatre
Preference: Great Yarmouth area artists

For details on Museum of Human Kindness, click here.
For queries, please contact Kazz Morohashi, email Kazz.

SCHEDULE

24 February 2020
Application deadline

2 March 2020
Decisions notified

Mid-March 2020
on-line group meeting

Mid-April 2020
Group meeting at
St. Georges Theatre

17 May 2020
Work install

18 May 2020
Exhibition open

24 May 2020
Public workshops

31 May 2020
Exhibition completion and work collection

In collaboration with:

With support from:

MUSEUM
of human
KINDNESS

Where stories become art

FAQs

How do I submit my art inspired by a kindness story?

We have two formats: physical exhibitions and on-line exhibitions.

We hold an open call for artist for each confirmed physical exhibition. Once the exhibition is finished, photographs of your work will continue to be featured in the online exhibition.

For artists interested in the on-line only museum, you can apply anytime.

How do I apply?

The application form can be found on 'Share Art' page of our website.

Will I retain ownership of my art?

You will own your work. We would like to arrange or ask you to provide a professional (or equivalent) quality, high-resolution image of your work and your consent for us to use the image(s) for non-commercial public dissemination, outreach and promotion purposes.

How will my work be credited?

Your name, web-link(s) and a brief artist statement on how the story inspired you and how you interpreted the story will be showcased together with your work.

What restrictions do you have?

We reserve the right to not exhibit or publish artwork or related materials which are deemed offensive or discriminatory on personal, sexual, racial, religious, national or ethnic grounds.

We reserve the right to edit (crop, adjust, overlay text, etc.) and publish images of the artwork for non-commercial digital and printed outputs.

MUSEUM
of human
KINDNESS

Where stories become art

FAQs

Is there an artist fee?

The short answer is that we're working on it. We are continuing our fund raising work in order to offer a modest artist fee for artists taking part in our physical exhibition.

We are a small group of individuals keen to develop the notion of spreading kindness through art. We do this by securing grants and running crowdfunding campaigns.

We are also artists and know what it feels like to not be financially recognised for our contribution. We want to make this work for everyone, especially you, while we grow as a museum.

So first, there is no application fee.

Second, for artists invited to contribute to both the virtual and physical exhibitions, we aim to provide a very modest artist fee. This will be provided at the end of the exhibition.

For artists interested in the virtual (web-based) exhibition only, unfortunately, we currently do not have the funding to provide an artist fee.

Will I get my work back after the physical exhibition?

Yes. Please collect your work at the end of the exhibition.